

Privacy Policy

Privacy Statement

CpML knows that you care about the way in which information about you is used and shared and we want to ensure that any such information that comes into our possession is properly looked after. This Privacy Policy sets out the steps that we take to ensure that any information provided to us is kept secure and confidential and is used only for the purposes for which it is provided.

Personal Information

The only personal information that we will collect is the personal information that you provide to us when you register with us or when you communicate with us (e.g., prior to or via participation in working committees). Upon request, we will, at any time, provide you with a copy of any personal information that we hold about you. The CpML website only uses functional cookies for the performance of the website. These cookies do not store any personal information.

Any personal information that you provide to us will be used only for the following purposes:

- To provide information to you as requested by you.
- To provide you with information or inform you about CpML services which may be of interest to you.
- For internal review.
- To improve the content and to ensure correctness of the website.
- To notify users about updates to the website.
- To register you for an external meeting or event, upon your request, as a CpML representative.

Disclosure

We will not pass any of your personal information to third-parties without your consent, other than to members of CpML under the conditions specified by the chapter 'Personal Information'.

Marketing and Advertising

Under no circumstances shall your personal contact information ever be given, sold, or otherwise shared by CpML with third parties for commercial, advertising or marketing purposes.

Protection of Information

We protect your information by requiring that all consultants working with CpML and other parties who have access to or are associated with the processing of your data (e.g. IT specialists maintaining the CpML website and server) respect your confidentiality.

Changes to our Privacy Policy

Any changes to our Privacy Policy are made available here. If we decide that we would like to make material changes to the way we use your personal information, we will ask for your informed consent prior to implementing such changes.